Please note that times of talks can vary

Webinars will take place on Zoom and can be joined using the link circulated to the ADG mailing list.

If you would like to join the mailing list or receive the link for the seminars please e-mail amy.holguin@arch.ox.ac.uk or elizabeth.stroud@arch.ox.ac.uk

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Mon 18th Oct (Week 2)</th>
<th>“Archaeological Starch Spherulites: A New Plant-Food Processing Proxy for Baking, Brewing and Boiling”</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Dr. Monica Ramsey, University of Cambridge</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mon 1st Nov (Week 4)</td>
<td>“Automation and Repetition: The Haystack Archaeobotanical Database”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Dr. Mark McKerracher, University of Oxford</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mon 15th Nov (Week 6)</td>
<td>“The small naked oat: A forgotten grain once cultivated in the British Isles”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Harriet Gendall, University of Kent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mon 29th Nov (Week 8)</td>
<td>“1918 Allotment: What recreating the past can inform us about growing practices in the present”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>JC Niala, University of Oxford</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>