

BARBARIANS PREHISTORY:

From the MESOLITHIC to the end of the IRON AGE

---

Hilary Term 2019, Fridays 4–5pm, Institute of Archaeology Lecture Room

---

Week 1 (January 18th):

The Structure and Organization of Late Bronze–Early Iron Age Fortress Communities in the South Caucasus.

Dr. Nathaniel Erb-Satullo, University of Oxford.

Week 2 (January 25th):

Found architecture: places becoming monuments in Northern Britain.

Prof. Richard Bradley, University of Reading Emeritus.

Week 3 (February 1st):

Viewed from the edge: exploring hinterland/metropole relations in southern Africa's first state society.

Prof. Ceri Ashley, University of Pretoria.

Week 4 (February 8th):

'Madness and Civilization': John Thurnam's collection of antiquities in their archaeological and social context.

Dr. Neil Wilkin, British Museum.

Week 5 (February 15th):

Take me to your leader: Arguments on chiefs in prehistoric Central America.

Dr. Alex Geurds, University of Oxford.

Week 6 (February 22nd):

TBC

Week 7 (March 1st):

Covering the dead in later prehistoric Britain: poignant processes, elusive objects and burial performance.

Dr. Anwen Cooper, University of Manchester.

Week 8 (**MONDAY March 4th, in the Institute Seminar Room**):

Looking into the Fire: Investigating Technological and Social Innovation during the Palaeolithic–Neolithic Transition.

Dr. David Friesem, University of Cambridge.

---

Contact Karl Smith (karl.smith@kellogg.ox.ac.uk) for more information.