

Bioarchaeology Seminar Series

Trinity Term 2021

Mondays 12:00-13:00, Remotely via Microsoft Teams

Teams link for all Teams sessions:

<https://teams.microsoft.com/l/channel/19%3a4890e8bbbb9e4dbd88981685cd341334%40thread.tacv2/Bioarchaeology?groupId=550fb0dc-672f-428e-81c4-e3d5e5f63b47&tenantId=cc95de1b-97f5-4f93-b4ba-fe68b852cf91>

Week 1 – April 26th

Dr Peter Ditchfield, Lab manager, University of Oxford, UK

Lab Meeting

Week 2 – May 3rd

No seminar

Week 3 – May 10th

Dr Iain Kendall, Postdoctoral Research Associate, University of Bristol, UK

“The shift from hunting-gathering to pastoralism in the Mongolian steppe: compound-specific amino acid isotope evidence”

Week 4 – May 17th

No seminar

Week 5 – May 24th

Quan Zhang, DPhil student, University of Oxford, UK

“A bioarchaeological study of intensification of pig husbandry in the middle Yellow River region during the Yangshao Period (7000-5000 BP)”

Week 6 – May 31st

No seminar (moved to June 14th)

Week 7 – June 7th

No seminar (moved to June 21th)

Week 8 – June 14th

Emese Vegh, DPhil student, University of Oxford, UK

“Differences in Structure, Histology, Major and Trace Elemental Concentrations in Bioapatite During the Late Postmortem Interval Pre- and Post-Burning”

Week 9 – June 21th

Professor Yaowu Hu, Fudan University, China

“Isotopic perspective on the evolution of Chinese tastes in the past”

If you want to be added to the seminar mailing-list, please contact:

Rubi Wu (rubi.wu@spc.ox.ac.uk)