

Maritime Archaeology Seminar Series

Oxford Centre of Maritime Archaeology (OCMA)

MICHAELMAS 2019

Institute of Archaeology, 36 Beaumont St, Oxford OX1 2PG, Lecture Room.

Our planned Maritime Archaeology Seminar Series aims to introduce a wide audience to the exciting and multidimensional sub-discipline of maritime archaeology, as well as broaden the knowledge of existing maritime archaeology scholars. As growing sub-discipline, pioneering research is being conducted on different scales - by world-leading experts in the UK as well as members of the School of Archaeology – and we hope to tap into this talent by offering a forum for experienced scholarship and new research alike. Ranging from ancient trade to the development of modern remote-sensing software, maritime archaeology is truly at the cutting edge of archaeology.
