

PALAEOLITHIC AND QUATERNARY SEMINAR SERIES

TRINITY 2019

The PalQuat seminar series aims to provide a multidisciplinary platform to discuss themes within Palaeolithic and Quaternary research.

Thursdays 5-6pm,
Lecture Room, Institute of Archaeology, 36 Beaumont Street

- 2ND
MAY 1 | WELCOME BACK DRINKS | THE RED LION PUB, 14 GLOUCESTER ST |
Join us to welcome in the new term with a catch up on current research relating to PalQuat themes over an informal pint!
- 9TH
MAY 2 | JULIA GALWAY-WITHAM | NATURAL HISTORY MUSEUM, LONDON |
Why new fossil discoveries might be making us less, rather than more, certain about human evolution (and what we can do about it).
- 16TH
MAY 3 | AWAITING CONFIRMATION FROM SPEAKER
- 23RD
MAY 4 | STUDENT SYMPOSIUM
Three presentations by current Oxford students on their research covering PalQuat themes.
- 30TH
MAY 5 | DR. JAMES COLE | UNIVERSITY OF BRIGHTON |
Palaeolithic cannibalism: calories or culture?
- 6TH
JUN 6 | DYLAN GAFFNEY | UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE |
On the trail of the first islanders: Pleistocene archaeology in the far western Pacific.
- 13TH
JUN 7 | TBA
- 20TH
JUN 8 | DR. LAMBROS MALAFOURIS | UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD |
Modes of Human Becoming: Towards a Process Archaeology of Mind.

Contact Charly Burnell (charlotte.burnell@arch.ox.ac.uk) or Katelyn Farrants (katelyn.farrants@linacre.ox.ac.uk)

PalQuat

@PalQuatOxford